CONSULTANT (m/f/d)

You would like to start your professional career as a consultant. Within the scope of our challenging projects, you will assist our project managers in solving a wide array of tasks for our clients. In the process we lay an emphasis on internal and external training.

You are looking forward to:

- Actively participate in our project teams in restructuring and M&A projects in the office and with the customer
- Execute operational tasks in the form of assessments of the economic situation (analyses of P&L, balance sheet, and cash flow) of our client's businesses
- Conduct market, competitive, and customer analyses as well as research activities
- Formulate valuations of companies and prepare transaction documents in both German and English.

Who we are:

- Concentro Management AG is a medium-sized consulting firm focussed on the pillars of transaction, transparency, and turnaround.
- With 30 employees at locations spanning across Nuremberg, Munich, Stuttgart, and Leipzig, Concentro works with a focus on implementation and success-orientation. Our goal is to create individualized consulting services to generate added value for our customers.

What you bring to the role:

- Successfully completed studies, preferably in business administration or a comparable course of study
- Strong numerical skills and experience in dealing with key business indicators
- High degree of analytical skills and strong problem-solving capabilities
- Very good English language skills
- Proficiency in MS Office applications, especially Excel and PowerPoint
- Team orientation and communication skills
- High level of motivation and flexibility.

What we offer:

- Exciting projects in a challenging field of business activity
- Independent assumption of areas of responsibility
- Flat and flexible organization with a pronounced employee orientation
- Open corporate communication in a highly motivated team
- Great opportunities for further professional career development
- Individual training and development series.

We are looking forward to receiving your application via E-Mail:
